it was in 2004, when k' (mikrophon.net; cologne) initially and formatively encouraged new.com to pursue the fine art of creating elaborated dubtechno mixes with perfectly matching cover artwork and carefully selected naming. it's a skill that k' himself cultivates near to perfection. not least he did it twice in "p45 radio", the forerunner of "comfortnoise podcast", in the october-05- and the november-06-show. k's trademarks are varied, calm and spatial very very generous musical arrangements. as he's a gifted photographer as well, the associated graphical material is always equal to the musical message, that is to say: original. to complete k's passions, we should also mention the third element: the aesthetics of bikes. to experience this unique oeuvre, we suggest to enjoy his photostream on flickr while listening to this show.
