d_u_bios (zürich/switzerland) takes live from the dubby side. he's cultivating a freestyle explorative approach to reggae, dub, minimalistic electronic sounds and rhythm aesthetics. rooted in the early 90's underground music culture, he refers to a vast experience in this field and is able to serve the dancefloor as well as outer space feelings. in this issue of comfortnoise podcast we're basically pursuing the outer space feelings, of course... basswise on a rock-bottom level. d_u_bios initially drops a couple of his perls in order to get into the appropriate mood to screw, melt and reverb some decent dubs into a completely new acoustic sensation. later on, d_u_bios and new.com are going to lose their minds in a b2b-session.
